“ Amy was wonderful. There isn't much else one could say. Kind, compassionate, a great sense of humor (needed with 3 boys and John), she was the most wonderful sister-in-law. She will be missed terribly....

“ I am so heartbroken to hear of this news, for Ezra and his family. I had gotten to know Amy and her son Ezra about one year ago and I am just deeply saddened that Amy and her younger son Isaac had to go home to be with the Lord so soon. I send my love and pray for continued peace for your family.

“ Through the years I have seen Amy only a handful of times. I always noticed how sweet and thoughtful she was. I knew of her illness but; she never complained. In October she visited my home with her mom in Pennsylvania. They stayed and we had a wonderful time seeing some of Pittsburgh. Each morning she came out to visit with me as I sat with my cats. I noticed I began to look forward to those special times. Her soft manner and a genuine concern of others made it a pleasure to be with her. My sincere sympathy goes out to the family for the loss of not only Amy but their son Iscaac. I know they will be missed everyday. With love, Roseann Barber

“ Moms of both Amy and I have been dear friends long before either of us were born and yet it has been within the last few years that we have all gotten to spend some cherished time together along with my husband and youngest. (Pictured with Amy) With all of the physical hardships Amy has endured her entire life, she richly blessed us all with her immense faith in our Lord and Savior. Through her surrender to Him, she was able to marry John and raise three boys, travel, work and baked like nobody I know. All of these achievements were possible simply based in the character that God created her to have. We are all honored to know that character and choose to make it a part of our own journey - that is the legacy of Amy Cox.

“ I remember Amy from our years in Chicago. Every memory is a good one. Amy was a cheerful woman. Amy loved her husband and children. I think of her with a smile on her face. I know that smile is terrific as she is suddenly welcomed into the presence of our Lord Jesus. John, Ezra and Eli: I am so very sorry for your great loss of her. Bereavement is a very tough burden, but there is One Who will help you carry it. You are all in my prayers.—Micki Johnson Simecek.

“ I don't think I have one specific memory of Amy. I just always remember how Amy had the ability to make me feel like I was the most important person in the room when she talked to me. So complimentary and kind.
