“ It's hard to find the words that are worthy of describing who Jon was and still is to me and my family. His generosity & willingness to help in any sight of trouble is just a portion of his sweet spirit. He witnessed many highs and lows (and extreme lows) of mine during our friendship and never once did he waver from kindness and love toward me and my own. Always consistent, always supportive, and most importantly always genuine. He is someone I will admire long after his arrival to Heaven. I hope to portray the many qualities that he probably didn't even know he taught me - know your priorities; love hard; work hard; take every opportunity to make memories; give freely; let things slide and let loose of the things you cannot control. I told Jon he always had the best stories and experiences. I wanted to type while he expressed his many adventures...it would have been a New York Best Seller! He giggled at the silly idea. I was completely serious. But now I know he giggled because it's more important to keep yourself humble and just do the best you can. So here's to Jon and his life adventure and his family and friends he loved so hard. Though you may not know me, I feel like I know you. So many stories! - he glowed with pride for all of you. I wish to have known these blessed people who had Jon to call family. Hold tightly to what you've been blessed with, stay humble and keep his legacy alive.
Cheers to Jon and love to all.
See ya later, good buddy.

“ With loving thoughts to all of Jon's family. Jon was a classmate and friend of mine from 1st.--12th. grade at Mt. Comfort school. Please know that he was very popular and had a great sense of humor. As an adult, we saw each other only a few times. He continued to have the knack for making friends feel special. He touched my life in thoughtful ways. I share your loss. Cherish your special memories. Joan Brooks Konzelman Class of 1960
